

Ginny Moon

by Benjamin Ludwig

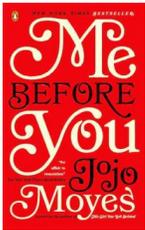

Despite being placed in the ideal foster home, autistic fourteen-year-old Ginny Moon is intent on running back to her abusive, drug-addict birth mother, Gloria.

What doesn't kill you : a life with chronic illness—lessons from a body in revolt

by Tessa Miller

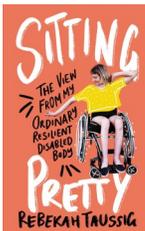

A debut book by a Daily Beast senior editor shares a candid account of her early adulthood manifestation of chronic illness, offering insights into how Americans live with long-term health complications today.

Me before you

by Jojo Moyes

Taking a job as an assistant to extreme sports enthusiast Will, who is wheelchair bound after a motorcycle accident, Louisa struggles with her employer's acerbic moods and learns of his shocking plans before demonstrating to him that life is still worth living

Sitting pretty : the view from my ordinary resilient disabled body

by Rebekah Taussig

The disability advocate and creator of the Instagram account @sitting

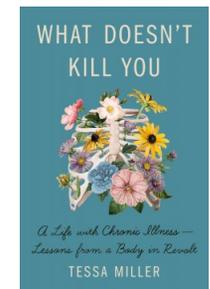

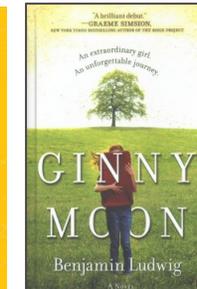

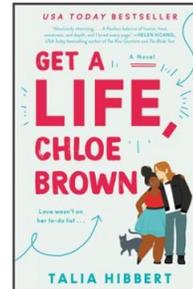

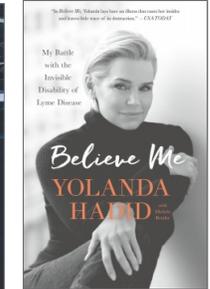

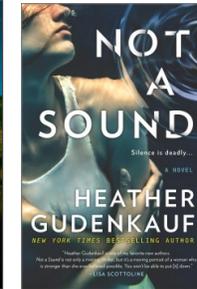

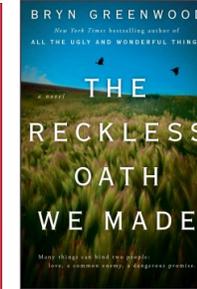

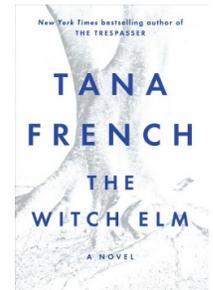

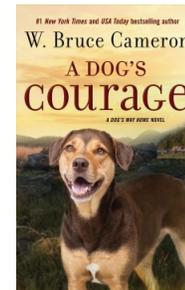

Pewaukee Public Library

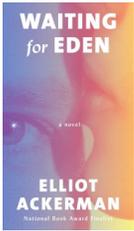

210 Main Street
Pewaukee, Wisconsin 53072
262-691-5670

<https://www.pewaukeelibrary.org/>

Diverse Abilities

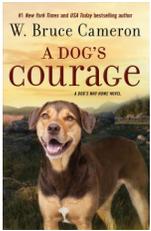

Waiting for Eden

by Elliot Ackerman

A veteran enduring life trapped in his own mind begins to find a way to communicate before troubling realities about his marriage come to the surface. By a National Book Award finalist.

A dog's courage : a dog's way home novel

by W. Bruce Cameron

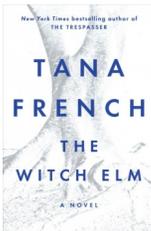

A weekend camping trip in the Rocky Mountains turns into a harrowing struggle for survival when a raging inferno separates Bella from her people, and, alone in the wilderness, must protect two defenseless mountain lion cubs as she searches for Lucas and Olivia.

The luster of lost things

by Sophie Chen Keller

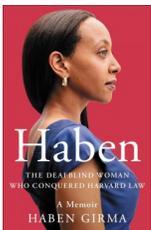

A boy with an uncanny ability to find lost objects embarks on the most important search of his life in order to save his mother's enchanted dessert shop.

The Witch Elm

by Tana French

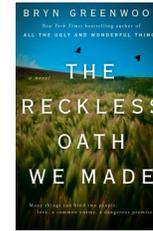

Left for dead by burglars while partying with friends, a happy-go-lucky charmer takes refuge at his dilapidated ancestral home before a grisly discovery reveals an unsuspected family history. By the New York Times best-selling author of The Trespasser.

Haben : the deafblind woman who conquered Harvard Law

by Haben Girma

Documents the story of the first deaf and blind graduate of Harvard Law School, tracing her refugee parents' harrowing experiences in the Eritrea-Ethiopian war and her development of innovations that enabled her remarkable achievements,

The reckless oath we made by Bryn Greenwood

The New York Times best-selling author of All the Ugly and Wonderful Things offers a provocative love story between a tough Kansas woman on a crooked path to redemption and the unlikely of champions.

Not a sound

by Heather Gudenkauf

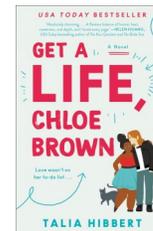

Losing her hearing in a tragic accident, nurse Amelia Winn suffers through two years of depression before rebuilding her life with the help of an assistance dog, only to find herself enmeshed in a fellow nurse's suspicious death. By the New York Times best-selling author of The Weight of Silence.

Believe me : my battle with the invisible disability of Lyme disease

by Yolanda Hadid

The television personality details her battle with Lyme disease, discussing her struggle to find a diagnosis, the effect the disease has had on her life, and her continued work as an advocate for Lyme research.

Get a life, Chloe Brown : a novel

by Talia Hibbert

Emerging from a life-threatening illness, a fiercely organized but unfulfilled computer geek recruits a mysterious artist to help her establish meaning in her life, before finding herself engaged in reckless but thrilling activities.

The bride test

by Helen Hoang

When his difficulties with processing emotions complicate the search for his bride, a Vietnamese-American on the autism spectrum is pursued by a hopelessly smitten girl from the Ho Chi Min City slums. By the author of "The Kiss Quotient".